

Frontend Developer – Senior (m/f/d), Berlin

Are you looking for career opportunities within a global growing real estate company?
Then you might be our next Senior Frontend Developer (m/f/d)?

Join us and be a part of our journey.

work description

- developing a single page application for residential construction
- ensuring a seamless integration with other apps
- mentoring developers and junior developers

who you are

- profound experience in front-end development for single page applications
- experience in either Angular 2-7 or React
- knowledge in Typescript

- GraphQL experience is beneficial
- responsive design, cross-browser and cross-platform development

- fluent English, speaking German or Swedish is a plus

what we offer you

At Akelius you get work-life balance, an inspiring workplace, flexible working hours and big responsibility within a flat organization.

In a helpful and open environment, we develop together as specialists and managers.

That is why we shape our staff with first class education at Akelius Business School.

how to apply

Please send your application to career@akelius.de including your latest CV.

You find further information on www.akelius.de.

about Akelius

Akelius acquires, upgrades and manages residential properties. The company owns 47,000 apartments in Sweden, Denmark, Germany, France, England, Canada and the US.

Akelius concept is Better Living.

This means that Akelius upgrades residential units to a quality level with newly constructed apartments.

We build our own applications and create our own technology. Akelius also helps people in need around the world by Akelius Foundation's charity work.