Backend Developer JVM / Kotlin – business applications (m/f/d), Berlin

Are you looking for career opportunities within a global growing real estate company?
Then you might be our next Backend Developer (m/f/d) in our more than 170 people strong technology department?

Our openminded business application team is dedicated to develop real estate applications for our international business in North America and Europe.

Join us and be a part of our journey.

work description
- developing backend tasks for web applications in a professional agile team
- responsible takeover, implementation and testing of planned and estimated user stories from the backlog

- proactive member within our team meetings, with active voice and opinion
- be a good listener with empathy
- eager to help and coach the workmates who needs to be developed who you are

- strong desire to get into Kotlin; ideally experience in Kotlin
- knowledge in any other JVM language like Scala, Groovy or Clojure as well as NodeJS and Typescript is a plus
- GraphQL or RESTful services experience is beneficial
- noSQL database knowledge is beneficial
- Kubernetes and Docker knowledge is beneficial
- Spring, ElasticSearch, machine learning, Kafka is nice to have
- team player mentality, committed with the whole software development life cycle in the agile team
- speaking German is a plus

what we offer you
At Akelius you get work-life balance,
an inspiring workplace,
flexible working hours and big responsibility within a flat organization.

In a helpful and open environment, we develop together as specialists and managers.
That is why we shape our staff with first class education at Akelius Business School.

how to apply
Please send your application to career@akelius.de including you latest CV.
You find further information on www.akelius.de.

about Akelius

Akelius acquires, upgrades and manages residential properties.
The company owns 47,000 apartments in Sweden,
Denmark, Germany, France,
England, Canada and the US.

Akelius concept is Better Living.
This means that Akelius upgrades residential units to a quality level with newly constructed apartments.

We build our own applications and create our own technology.
Akelius also helps people in need around the world by Akelius Foundation's charity work.